Capital Hints Air Reinforcements Arrive In Indies

Pursuit Planes In Fight

Formation Of P-40
Craft Battles
Jap Forces

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 — A war department announcement today that American Army pursuit planes have fought an aerial battle with Japanese aircraft indicated strongly that U. S. reinforcements finally have reached the Netherlands East Indies.

The department, in a communique, stated that a small formation of American P-40 fighter planes had encountered a greatly superior force of Japanese bombers, escorted by pursuit aircraft over Java, and shot down one enemy bomber and one pursuit ship.

One of the American planes was reported missing.

It was the first time that the Army admitted that pursuit planes manned by U. S. Army personnel were fighting with the Dutch forces. Previously, only flying fortress bombers were active in that area.

While American-made pursuit planes have been active in the southwestern Pacific, an official spokesman admitted that this was the first time that such planes have been attached to American fighting forces.

Meanwhile, there was a definite slowing down of enemy activity on the Bataan peninsula where Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces have scored smashing successes against the Japanese during the last two weeks.

Lack of activity in the Philippines was construed by war experts as an indication that the Japanese may be waiting for aerial support which now is engaged in the battle of Singapore and the East Indies.

Japs Bomb Red Cross Relief Ship

American Craft Reaches
Australian Port; Tales
Of Attacks Related

LONDON, Feb. 5—Wounded soldiers and nurses from the Philippine islands arrived at an Australian port today with tales of brutal Japanese bombing attacks on their hospital ship just outside Manila harbor, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Melbourne.

Nine separate bombing attacks were carried out against the clearly-marked mercy ship from noon until late afternoon on December 8, the day after Japan started the Pacific war with her sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

The wounded men and women were the first victims of Japanese onslaughts against the Philippines, which quickly followed the Pearl Harbor attack.

Sent By MacArthur

They were hastily evacuated from the danger zone under orders from General Douglas MacArthur, only to find themselves set on by enemy war planes at sea.

Arrival of the wounded with their first-person stories of Japanese brutality gave the lie to an official Japanese wireless broadcast yesterday asserting that the United States hospital ship Macatan had reached Australia safely with 200 American soldiers "after being allowed to sail unmolested under Japanese government supervision."

(Editor's Note: The Exchange Telegraph dispatch, for obvious reasons of censorship, did not definitely identify the ship as the Macatan or the port of arrival as Sydney, as announced by Tokyo. It was assumed, however, that the ship was the same.)

"Jap fighters and bombers came over us like swarms of flies," said one of the wounded men, who disclosed the hospital ship sailed from Manila within 50 hours of being chartered.

"We all kept cheerful," he continued. "We had only one thought—to get well and have another crack at them."

A wounded nurse admitted it was no picnic.

"The bombings gave me butterfly stomachs," she said.

"We tried to grin and bear it, and we did carry on the best we could. But the bomb crashes made our stomachs act like butterflies were flitting about inside."

U. S. SHOULD AID IN PEACE PLANS, SOLLMAN AVERS

F. Wilhelm Sollmann, final speaker of the Rotary Institute of International Understanding, declared it a moral duty for the United States to help shape the peace which will follow the war, when he spoke in the social room of the school building Wednesday night.

The speaker warned taxpayers, however, to beware of the manner in which money was spent in the reconstruction of nations. "This country will receive the greatest testing that it has undergone since Valley Forge," the speaker declared, and added that an underlying feeling of insecurity now prevails throughout the nation which was not present during World War I.

"Germany is a nation of soldiers and the United States is a nation of civilians," the speaker pointed out. "Such a condition makes it difficult for us to cope with the axis. Germany let itself be led into the position it is in today because the German people lost their feeling of security and looked to a new savior," he said.

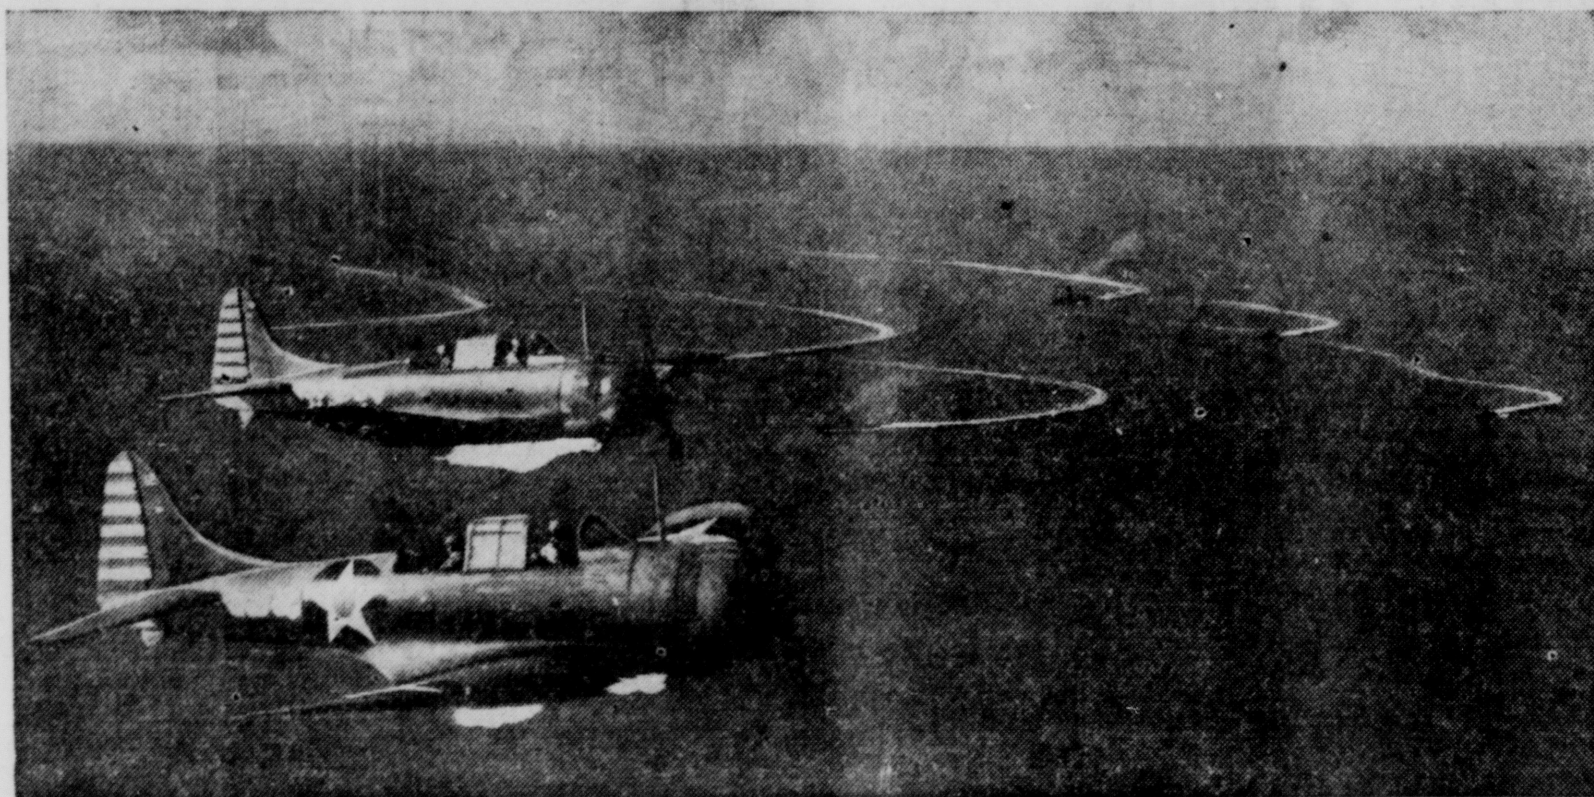

Nearly 200 persons attended the closing institute session, which the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, chairman in charge, pronounced a success. Members of Rev. Kelsey's committee included Frank Fisker, Herman Hill, Karl Mason and Charles Goeller.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—On a sunny day in September, 1938, Adolf Hitler stood amidst half a dozen foreign correspondents up in the tapestry room of the medieval castle overlooking gable-roofed Nuremberg and became loquacious. He was in an expansive mood, as he can be when the sun is warm and two million men are marching around town helling and hailing him like a triumphant Caesar home from the wars abroad.

He liked to hold forth in surroundings of ancient Germanic glory, and each year in September until war interfered he came to Nuremberg for ten days of riotous Nazi party marching and singing, featured by tidal waves of oratory to massed formations of storm troops. At such times of the Nuremberg Partei Tag he lived in the Hotel Deutscher Hof, rebuilt in luxury style with special Fuehrer apartments on the second floor and a balcony overlooking the street.

But he frequently visited and received guests in the castle on the hill, where each year a special staff of servants and culinary equipment ruled any ghosts out of place and drove aside the taint of museums and dead ages. There, in the heavily-beamed oak paneled room which long ago served as reception chamber for the fierce and mighty Barbarossa, Hitler felt at home and each year played luncheon host to diplomats and correspondents, receiving each group on a fixed day in accordance.

DAYTON MOVES TO CLEAN UP VICE IN ITS DISTRICT

DAYTON, Feb. 5—The city of Dayton moved today to clean up vice in the vicinity of Wright and Patterson air fields, adding 10 men to its vice squad and jailing 11 women and girls described by police as "camp followers."

Police said that several of the women were found on examination by health authorities to be victims of disease.

Portable Radio Falls Into Tub, Electrocutes Girl, 12, When Bathing

CHICAGO, Feb. 5—A freak accident, the fall of a portable radio into a bathtub, was blamed today for the electrocution of 12-year-old Myra Donnelly, daughter of the socially prominent Elliott Donnellys of suburban Lake Forest.

The girl had taken the radio with her to the bathroom, saying: "I don't want to miss my program."

Her body was found by her father early today after he discovered she had not gone to bed. She was in the tub with the radio immersed in the water. Realizing at once what had happened, he disconnected the radio, which Myra had plugged into a wall socket, and called police and firemen.

They worked for half an hour in an attempt to revive the girl, but physicians estimated she had been dead at least two hours.

Coroner John L. Taylor of Lake county, who pronounced the death accidental, said the radio in some manner had fallen into the water which, with the metal tub, provided a perfect contact with the electric wires within the apparatus. Death is almost a certainty in these circumstances, he said. The tragedy, he added, was a warning against the practice of playing portable radios near bathtubs.

Myra was a granddaughter of Thomas E. Donnelly, head of the big R. R. Donnelley company, publishing and printing house.

Japs Pledge Freedom, If Filipinos Quit Fighting

By CURTIS HINDSON
BATAAN PENINSULA, LUZON ISLAND, Philippines, Jan. 27—(Delayed)—A formation of Japanese dive-bombers dropped pamphlets on the Bataan peninsula today—closely followed by a hail of bombs.

When the shower of pamphlets reached earth, they were found to be copies of the Manila Tribune of January 22 with large headlines stating:

"Japan Promises the Philippine Islands Independence."

Ironically, however, the text of the article from which the headlines were taken proved to be a dispatch from the Japanese (Domei) news agency and carried the proviso that the promise was dependent on Filipino acceptance of Japan's schemes for mutual "co-prosperity."

It should be noted that the Tribune, with its Spanish-language edition, La Vanguardia, are the only newspapers now allowed to be published for the white population of Japanese-occupied Manila. This is under strict supervision of Jap military authorities.

"Co-Prosperity" Necessary
Throughout the Luzon island campaign the Japanese have been active in propaganda, and the leaflets followed the well known "co-prosperity" groove.

"Filipinos," one leaflet exhorted, "lay down your arms and save the glorious Philippines. America is your only enemy."

If the Japanese by these methods expected to form a cleavage within the ranks of the American-Filipino forces, they sadly misjudged the psychology of the defenders of the Philippines and of the Filipino soldiers who are putting up magnificent resistance.

On recommendation of the highway department the city has adopted parallel parking on Court street. It is prohibiting double parking on Main and Court streets and has passed legislation prohibiting parking on Court street north of Pleasant.

NEED FOR SUGAR RATIONS SCORED IN CAPITAL CITY

By JACK VINCENT
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—War production officials, while planning to ration sugar at home, today are preparing to allow shipment of 800,000 tons of sugar to Great Britain, Canada and Russia and hold another 930,000 tons as the American stockpile.

Approximately 300,000 tons, it was learned, will be shipped to Russia, probably under lend-lease arrangements. About 500,000 tons have been earmarked for Britain and Canada. So far England, while receiving millions of dollars worth of munitions under the lend-lease law, has paid cash on the barrel-head for all its sugar.

Meanwhile, experts at the department of agriculture in Washington are studying figures which do not agree with those announced (Continued on Page Four)

Singapore Guns Lash Batteries On Coast Area

Nipponese Hurl Big Air Force On Naval Base Of Surabaya; American Fighters
Appear; Russians Nearing Smolensk

BY LEO V. DOLAN,
International News Service War Editor

Balked by the big guns of Singapore and fought to a standstill in the Philippines, Japan struck again today in aerial attacks at the huge Dutch naval base at Surabaya on the island of Java and at the New Guinea coast only 380 miles from the Australian mainland.

Activity of the Jap flyers over Java, where headquarters of the united nations high command is located, was promptly and successfully challenged by the first group of American fighter planes known to be operating in the Dutch East Indies.

A war department communique said that a small formation of these American planes, with American pilots at the controls, ran into a greatly superior Jap bombing force over Java. One enemy bomber and one Jap pursuit ship were shot down and one American plane was reported missing.

The official announcement did not specify whether or not the engagement resulted from the Jap raid on Surabaya, mentioning only that it had occurred over the island of Java.

There was a marked lessening of Japanese pressure on American forces in the Philippines with action confined to minor patrol attacks. It was evident, however, that the Americans are still taking enemy prisoners since Gen. Douglas MacArthur was able to identify individual units of enemy troops and calmly report to Washington the identity of their commanders by name.

Batteries Hit
At Singapore, British big guns silenced Japanese batteries north of Johore strait in a thunderous artillery duel while enemy warplanes maintained a heavy bombardment of the besieged garrison.

On other world-wide fronts there were both advances and reverses for the united nations. The situation, in brief: Americans are tenaciously holding their ground in the Philippines. The Russians are pushing the Germans closer to Smolensk. British desert fighters retreated in Libya after evacuating Derna. British defense lines were reported holding firm in Burma and the hard-fighting Chinese suffered a reverse at the hands of Jap forces northwest of Hong Kong.

The new Japanese raid on Surabaya on island of Java was the second such attack in three days. The first attack caused but little damage and today's raid was described in an official Dutch communique as a "light bombardment." However, some fires were started and some material damage resulted. There was no further word on developments at Ambon island, site of the next largest Dutch base at Amboina, where heavy fighting was reported raging yesterday.

On Singapore, the first major artillery duel between the British and Japs ended in undisputed favor of the British gunners who lobbed shell after shell across the narrow Johore strait onto Jap artillery positions, finally silencing the Jap guns and sending the gun crews fleeing for cover.

There were new Japanese air raids on Singapore but these were said to have caused comparatively little damage.

Salween Lines Hold

In Burma, royal air force planes again smashed at Jap forces attempting to establish positions at the mouth of the Salween river while British lines held firm along the entire Salween river front.

NEW YORK—The British radio said this morning that "the Germans are intensifying their air attacks on Malta" and reported that "yesterday the island experienced its longest daylight attack of the war." The broadcast, which was recorded at the CBS short wave listening station, said "damage was slight."

CANBERRA — Japanese four-engined flying boats bombed Port Moresby, in southern Papua territory (Australian) causing some damage but no casualties, the Australian military headquarters reported today.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa—Widespread sabotage during the night that severed telephone and telegraph lines leading from Johannesburg to areas surrounding Capetown was announced by authorities today. Outgoing traffic between Johannesburg and Capetown was delayed for hours pending temporary repairs.

MADRID—The government of Generalissimo Francisco Franco paid off today for Italy's help in the Spanish civil war. A law authorizing the Spanish minister of finance to issue and deliver to the bank of Italy 5,000 Spanish treasury bonds to the value of 1,000,000 lire each was published in an official bulletin. This amounts to $250,000,000.

WOMEN'S NYLON HOSIERY PRICES TO REMAIN SAME

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—Manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers were under orders of Price Administrator Leon Henderson today not to raise the prices of women's nylon hosiery above the levels of October 1, 1941.

Henderson warned that retail prices "are already as high as they can be permitted to go." He said the ceiling on wholesale prices would prevent wholesale advances from spreading to the retail market.

At the same time the OPA imposed a ceiling on mercury, or quicksilver. The order fixes maximum prices for mercury in California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Nevada and Arizona at $191 per 76-pound flask and at $193 in Texas and Arkansas.

Balked by the big guns of Singapore and fought to a standstill in the Philippines, Japan struck again today in aerial attacks at the huge Dutch naval base at Surabaya on the island of Java and at the New Guinea coast only 380 miles from the Australian mainland.

Activity of the Jap flyers over Java, where headquarters of the united nations high command is located, was promptly and successfully challenged by the first group of American fighter planes known to be operating in the Dutch East Indies.

A war department communique said that a small formation of these American planes, with American pilots at the controls, ran into a greatly superior Jap bombing force over Java. One enemy bomber and one Jap pursuit ship were shot down and one American plane was reported missing.

The official announcement did not specify whether or not the engagement resulted from the Jap raid on Surabaya, mentioning only that it had occurred over the island of Java.

There was a marked lessening of Japanese pressure on American forces in the Philippines with action confined to minor patrol actions. It was evident, however, that the Americans are still taking enemy prisoners since Gen. Douglas MacArthur was able to identify individual units of enemy troops and calmly report to Washington the identity of their commanders by name.

Batteries Hit
At Singapore, British big guns silenced Japanese batteries north of Johore strait in a thunderous artillery duel while enemy warplanes maintained a heavy bombardment of the besieged garrison.

On other world-wide fronts there were both advances and reverses for the united nations. The situation, in brief: Americans are tenaciously holding their ground in the Philippines. The Russians are pushing the Germans closer to Smolensk. British desert fighters retreated in Libya after evacuating Derna. British defense lines were reported holding firm in Burma and the hard-fighting Chinese suffered a reverse at the hands of Jap forces northwest of Hong Kong.

The new Japanese raid on Surabaya on island of Java was the second such attack in three days. The first attack caused but little damage and today's raid was described in an official Dutch communique as a "light bombardment." However, some fires were started and some material damage resulted. There was no further word on developments at Ambon island, site of the next largest Dutch base at Ambon, where heavy fighting was reported raging yesterday.

On Singapore, the first major artillery duel between the British and Japs ended in undisputed favor of the British gunners who lobbed shell after shell across the narrow Johore strait onto Jap artillery positions, finally silencing the Jap guns and sending the gun crews fleeing for cover.

There were new Japanese air raids on Singapore but these were said to have caused comparatively little damage.

Salween Lines Hold
In Burma, royal air force planes again smashed at Jap forces attempting to establish positions at the mouth of the Salween river while British lines held firm along the entire Salween river front. The forces of Generalissimo (Continued on Page Four)

VICHY—Severe penalties including death, hard labor and fines will be invoked against the population of occupied France for refusal to submit to requisitions of services or goods, German authorities announced today.

NEW YORK—The British radio said this morning that "The Germans are intensifying their air attacks on Malta" and reported that "yesterday the island experienced its longest daylight attack of the war." The broadcast, which was recorded at the CBS short wave listening station, said "damage was slight."

CANBERRA — Japanese four-engined flying boats bombed Port Moresby, in southern Papua territory (Australian) causing some damage but no casualties, the Australian military headquarters reported today.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa—Widespread sabotage during the night that severed telephone and telegraph lines leading from Johannesburg to areas surrounding Capetown was announced by authorities today. Outgoing traffic between Johannesburg and Capetown was delayed for hours pending temporary repairs.

MADRID—The government of Generalissimo Francisco Franco paid off today for Italy's help in the Spanish civil war. A law authorizing the Spanish minister of finance to issue and deliver to the bank of Italy 5,000 Spanish treasury bonds to the value of 1,000,000 lire each was published in an official bulletin. This amounts to $250,000,000.

WOMEN'S NYLON HOSIERY PRICES TO REMAIN SAME

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—Manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers were under orders of Price Administrator Leon Henderson today not to raise the prices of women's nylon hosiery above the levels of October 1, 1941.

Henderson warned that retail prices "are already as high as they can be permitted to go." He said the ceiling on wholesale prices would prevent wholesale advances from spreading to the retail market.

At the same time the OPA imposed a ceiling on mercury, or quicksilver. The order fixes maximum prices for mercury in California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Nevada and Arizona at $191 per 76-pound flask and at $193 in Texas and Arkansas.

Emphasizing that the selective service registration on February 16 will complete the registration of America's potential military manpower, Lieut. Col. C. W. Goble, state director of selective service, today pointed out that it affects every male resident in Ohio between the military ages of 20 and 45 years, with a few exceptions made by congress.

The requirement, Director Goble explained, is that all male persons not previously registered, who attained their twentieth birthday on or before December 31, 1941, and who have not reached their forty-fifth birthday on or before February 16, 1942, must register as of their home address between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. on February 16. In other words, all unregistered men who were born between February 17, 1897, and December 31, 1921 must register.

Men between 21 and 36 years of age who registered in 1940 and 1941 are not required to register again, the director stated.

The director also pointed out that, to avoid interference with war production, arrangements have been made for registration in advance of February 16. The dates and time fixed by the state director when local board officers and other registration places will be open for this advance registration in Ohio are: Saturday, February 14, 1942, and Sunday, February 15, 1942, between the hours of 12:00 noon and 6:00 p. m.

While anyone who is unavoidably away from his home on February 16 may register at the registration place most convenient on that day, Director Goble said, he urged all registrants to make every effort to register with their own local boards to avoid possible confusion in the future.

BLOOD BANK NOT TO BE SET UP IN CIRCLEVILLE

Red Cross Says Would-Be Donors Have Offered Services, However

FACILITIES ARE LACKING

Larger Cities Have Major Success In Building Up Supplies

Miss Agnes Butch, executive secretary of the Pickaway county Red Cross, Thursday expressed appreciation for the willingness of individuals to donate blood for use in war service hospitals.

In the larger cities where facilities are available to prepare the blood for shipment, Red Cross chapters are conducting campaigns to obtain donors. In Circleville and vicinity, however, Miss Butch explained there are no facilities to prepare the blood.

She added that several persons have called Red Cross headquarters here and offered their services, but they were declined for present. Miss Butch explained that in the near future it is quite possible facilities will be established in Circleville to prepare the blood.

The executive secretary said the program was launched several months ago at request of the surgeons general of the Army and Navy as a preparedness measure, the blood donor service is now meeting an urgent war need. The laboratories equipped to process blood donations into dry plasma will operate to their fullest capacity.

T. E. Wilson, director of Civilian Defense, reported that many had volunteered to contribute to a blood test and that their offers had been filed for reference in case of need.

Japan's bombs fell on Pearl Harbor whose hospital and capital ships were supplied with life-saving blood plasma. Further supplies were on hand in Manila for armed forces in the Philippines. The army has rushed thousands of additional units to the west coast for distribution in the Pacific area.

Chapters Busy

Chapters in all parts of the country are besieged with inquiries from would-be donors. To them it should be explained that procurement of blood must for the present be limited to areas within twelve hours shipping distance of the laboratories supplied with the elaborate equipment used in processing the liquid content of the blood, or plasma, into dried powder form. Refrigerated from the moment it is secured from the donor, each pint of blood must reach the laboratory within this twelve hour limit.

This explains why the 200,000 donors required in the present project to supply dried plasma for the Army and Navy are being drawn from the metropolitan areas of Baltimore, Boston, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Indianapolis, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and Rochester in the eastern area; Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee and St. Louis in the mid-western area; Los Angeles and San Francisco in the Pacific area. An active blood donor center is also operating in Washington under the direction of the District of Columbia chapter. Donations procured there are processed into liquid plasma for use in army and navy hospitals throughout the country.

Mrs. Arthur R. Miller, director of the Red Cross blood donor service of the Pittsburgh chapter, said: "We have been swamped with volunteers and most of them leave our center after donating blood with hopes that they will be able to donate another pint in a month or two."

The Detroit chapter reported a jump from 331 donors weekly to 960 weekly. In St. Louis, the Red

POPULATION ON ISLANDS GIVEN SAFETY PLANS

HONOLULU, Feb. 5—Honolulu stood ready to evacuate its civilian population from possible invasion zones today following announcement of emergency plans by Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, military governor of the Hawaiian islands.

All residents within approximately one mile of the southernmost shore of Oahu island, including thickly-settled portions of Honolulu itself, were advised to prepare for a jump into the interior on one hour's notice.

Men not engaged in essential work are to remain behind to fight fires, should a Japanese invasion attempt occur.

But others in possible invasion areas were urged to accumulate imperishable food supplies sufficient for four days, as well as blankets, gas masks and warm clothing.

The evacuation was described as optional, yet Gen. Emmons announced that if house-holders do not go with the bulk of the population, they may later be unable to leave because of troop movements clogging roads.

Gen. Emmons advised residents of the evacuation area to make arrangements immediately with friends in the interior of the island, to provide lodging in case of emergency.

Camps, however, will be provided for those unable to arrange for other dwelling places in the central island area.

The plans for emergency evacuation apply only to a Japanese landing on Oahu, and not to possible air raids, it was pointed out.

Cross chapter inaugurated a blood donor program after war was declared and reported a capacity booking of 80 donors a day for the next several weeks.

In New York the mobile blood bank of the American Red Cross journeyed up the Hudson river to bring the blood donor service to the small towns in that area.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

New License—New Laws

Many fishermen have been confused as to the 1942 licenses and laws and have thought that no new license was necessary until March 1. However, a license to fish has been necessary since January 1. This year's license, however, will be good until March 1, 1943.

A hunting license purchased in 1941 will be good until September 1, 1942 and the license year thereafter will begin on that date. Thus the license year for fishing in the future will begin March 1. Keep in mind then that a fishing license purchased this year will be good until March 1, 1943.

License badges must be displayed on the outer garments while fishing.

Taking bait at night is prohibited between the hours of 9 p. m. and 4 a. m. except that crawfish may be picked by hand at night. If a non resident takes minnows or crawfish in Ohio he needs a non resident license.

There is no legal length on bluegills this year. Only carp, sheepshead, carpsuckers, and suckers caught by angling may be sold in Ohio.

Sportsmen's Convention

Sportsmen from all parts of Ohio will assemble in Columbus Saturday and Sunday February 7 and 8, when the League of Ohio Sportsmen will hold its annual convention at the Deshler-Wallick hotel.

Chief among the speakers will be Gov. John W. Bricker; A. A. Wakefield, director of the Kentucky Division of Fish and Game; C. R. Gutermuth, acting director of the Indiana Division of Fish and Game; Calvin Price, editor of the Pocahontas Times, Marlinton, W. Va., and members of the staff of the Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources.

Food And Cover Trees

The Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources will be able to distribute over 500,000 food and cover trees to organizations and individuals for planting. Any landowner desiring to obtain such trees may obtain application blanks from either Clarence Francis, Circleville, or C. E. Webb, 335 East Main street, Circleville. Since there is a limited number of trees applications should be made early. The trees are distributed free.

This is not a reforestation program but is designed to provide natural habitat for wildlife where it is now lacking. The planting of food, bearing trees and shrubs is in line with the Conservation Division's 15 point program. Not only do these trees save the farmer's top soil but they offer food and cover for game and aid in eliminating silting of streams which is detrimental to fish.

The trees can be planted only in units. Each unit will consist of 125 red pines or 125 Scotch pines, and 42 food bearing shrubs of seven different species, namely: six each of black chokeberry, coralberry, hazelnut, frost grape, red mulberry, bush honeysuckle and flowering crab. The general plan is to plant the pines as a solid block with the food bearing shrubs planted on the margin of the pines. Complete instructions as to the manner of planting and method of use is described in the application blank. One unit will plant approximately a quarter of an acre.

KENNY NAMED RECEIVER FOR HILLSBORO COMPANY

Geves Kenny of Hillsboro, former Circleville resident, has been named receiver under $5,000 bond for the Highland County Dairy Products company, Hillsboro. A dissolution suit was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Kenny, who assert they own all the stock in the firm. Appointment of Kenny as receiver was made by Judge George W. McDowell of Highland county common pleas court.

STAGE VETERAN CLOSES CAREER OF MANY YEARS

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—Joe Cook, one of the most popular comedians of the American stage, revealed his retirement from the footlights today.

In a full page theatrical paper ad Cook said:

"I made my entrance into show business with a page ad in 'Variety' and make my exit the same way.

"Am very thankful for the many fine offers received this season, but, due to ill health, am announcing my retirement.

"I take my leave with deepest gratitude to the public, my fellow actors, managers, producers, representatives, critics, press agents, authors, sponsors, musicians, stage hands and everyone connected with the profession. With every good wish for their continued success and for the theater that I love so well sincerely, Joe Cook."

Cook, a native of Evansville, Ind., is said to have suffered a nervous affliction of his left hand during his juggling routines in "It Happens On Ice," his last show. An extraordinary versatile entertainer, Joe Cook was best known for his "imitation of four Hawaiians."

BLOOD BANK NOT TO BE SET UP IN CIRCLEVILLE

Red Cross Says Would-Be Donors Have Offered Services, However

FACILITIES ARE LACKING

Larger Cities Have Major Success In Building Up Supplies

Miss Agnes Butch, executive secretary of the Pickaway county Red Cross, Thursday expressed appreciation for the willingness of individuals to donate blood for use in war service hospitals.

In the larger cities where facilities are available to prepare the blood for shipment, Red Cross chapters are conducting campaigns to obtain donors. In Circleville and vicinity, however, Miss Butch explained there are no facilities to prepare the blood.

She added that several persons have called Red Cross headquarters here and offered their services, but they were declined for present. Miss Butch explained that in the near future it is quite possible facilities will be established in Circleville to prepare the blood.

The executive secretary said the program was launched several months ago at request of the surgeons general of the Army and Navy as a preparedness measure, the blood donor service is now meeting an urgent war need. The laboratories equipped to process blood donations into dry plasma will operate to their fullest capacity.

T. E. Wilson, director of Civilian Defense, reported that many had volunteered to contribute to a blood test and that their offers had been filed for reference in case of need.

Japan's bombs fell on Pearl Harbor whose hospital and capital ships were supplied with life-saving blood plasma. Further supplies were on hand in Manila for armed forces in the Philippines. The army has rushed thousands of additional units to the west coast for distribution in the Pacific area.

Chapters Busy

Chapters in all parts of the country are besieged with inquiries from would-be donors. To them it should be explained that procurement of blood must for the present be limited to areas within twelve hours shipping distance of the laboratories supplied with the elaborate equipment used in processing the liquid content of the blood, or plasma, into dried powder form. Refrigerated from the moment it is secured from the donor, each pint of blood must reach the laboratory within this twelve hour limit.

This explains why the 200,000 donors required in the present project to supply dried plasma for the Army and Navy are being drawn from the metropolitan areas of Baltimore, Boston, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Indianapolis, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and Rochester in the eastern area; Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee and St. Louis in the mid-western area; Los Angeles and San Francisco in the Pacific area. An active blood donor center is also operating in Washington under the direction of the District of Columbia chapter. Donations procured there are processed into liquid plasma for use in army and navy hospitals throughout the country.

Mrs. Arthur R. Miller, director of the Red Cross blood donor service of the Pittsburgh chapter, said: "We have been swamped with volunteers and most of them leave our center after donating blood with hopes that they will be able to donate another pint in a month or two."

The Detroit chapter reported a jump from 331 donors weekly to 960 weekly. In St. Louis, the Red

POPULATION ON ISLANDS GIVEN SAFETY PLANS

HONOLULU, Feb. 5.—Honolulu stood ready to evacuate its civilian population from possible invasion zones today following announcement of emergency plans by Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, military governor of the Hawaiian islands.

All residents within approximately one mile of the southernmost shore of Oahu island, including thickly-settled portions of Honolulu itself, were advised to prepare for a jaunt into the interior on one hour's notice.

Men not engaged in essential work are to remain behind to fight fires, should a Japanese invasion attempt occur.

But others in possible invasion areas were urged to accumulate imperishable food supplies sufficient for four days, as well as blankets, gas masks and warm clothing.

Gen. Emmons advised residents of the evacuation area to make arrangements immediately with friends in the interior of the island, to provide lodging in case of emergency.

Camps, however, will be provided for those unable to arrange for other dwelling places in the central island area.

The plans for emergency evacuation apply only to a Japanese landing on Oahu, and not to possible air raids, it was pointed out.

Cross chapter inaugurated a blood donor program after war was declared and reported a capacity booking of 80 donors a day for the next several weeks.

In New York the mobile blood bank of the American Red Cross journeyed up the Hudson river to bring the blood donor service to the small towns in that area.

is in line with the Conservation Division's 15 point program. Not only do these trees save the farmer's top soil but they offer food and cover for game and aid in eliminating silting of streams which is detrimental to fish.

The trees can be planted only in units. Each unit will consist of 125 red pines or 125 Scotch pines, and 42 food bearing shrubs of seven different species, namely: six each of black chokeberry, coralberry, hazelnut, frost grape, red mulberry, bush honeysuckle and flowering crab. The general plan is to plant the pines as a solid block with the food bearing shrubs planted on the margin of the pines. Complete instructions as to the manner of planting and method of use is described in the application blank. One unit will plant approximately a quarter of an acre.

STAGE VETERAN CLOSES CAREER OF MANY YEARS

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Joe Cook, one of the most popular comedians of the American stage, revealed his retirement from the footlights today.

In a full page theatrical paper ad Cook said:

"I made my entrance into show business with a page ad in 'Variety' and make my exit the same way.

"Am very thankful for the many fine offers received this season, but, due to ill health, am announcing my retirement.

"I take my leave with deepest gratitude to the public, my fellow actors, managers, producers, representatives, critics, press agents, authors, sponsors, musicians, stage hands and everyone connected with the profession. With every good wish for their continued success and for the theater that I love so well sincerely, Joe Cook."

JAPAN RENEWS DRIVE ON JAVA

Chiang Kai-Shek meanwhile suffered their first reverse in many weeks. Japanese troops in a counter-offensive forced the Chinese to evacuate Peking, a key railroad town 75 miles northwest of Hong Kong. On two other fronts in Shansi province, however, the Chinese were said to be more than holding their own.

In Libya, the British staged successful bombing attacks on axis columns with numerous vehicles destroyed, but the British nevertheless were falling back along the road toward Tobruk after losing the strategic supply port of Derna to Italian-German troops.

In Washington, curtailment of Japanese activity over the Bataan peninsula in the Philippines led military observers to express belief that the Japs are too busy elsewhere to launch their promised big push against the forces of Gen. MacArthur.

But it was pointed out that MacArthur's plight is still critical because of Japanese numerical superiority.

An Australian announcement told of a new Jap bombing raid on Port Moresby, Papua, which caused some damage but no casualties. A communique said about 30 bombs were dropped.

COLLEGE BEGINS IN JUNE, YOUTHS ARE INFORMED

Pickaway county high school seniors soon must make an important decision about their college work.

In the past it has been something of a tradition that college begins in the autumn. This year college starts in June!

Nearly every college and university has announced an accelerated program by which students will now attend summers as well as in what has previously been regarded as "the regular school year."

This action, of course, is part of the national "Speed up," intended to train young men and women more rapidly for essential work in the war effort. But a college, like an airplane factory, is a production unit, and all its plans for a "speed up" will fall if the raw materials—the young people just out of high school—are not forthcoming.

The new situation may call for a reversal of thoughts about education. In the past the student who attended summer school was constantly called on to explain that he was doing so by desire, and not because of failures. It may be that the time has now come when the student who does not take summer work will be regarded as the "irregular" individual.

At Ohio State university, for example, freshmen in all the professional colleges, such as medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, and pharmacy, have been instructed to report in June and up-classesmen also will continue their studies through the summer. Other Ohio State colleges which have offered summer work in the past will further expand their offerings—and all will look on June, rather than September or October, as the beginning of the college year.

Even so, year-around college attendance at college won't be such a hardship on Ohio youth. Intervals between quarters add up to about two months. And rare, indeed, will be the youth who finds a job after graduation where he works only 10 months out of the year!

AUTO STAMPS ON HAND TO SUPPLY ALL LOCAL NEEDS

More auto use tax stamps arrived at the postoffice Tuesday night and were placed on sale Wednesday.

Postmaster Hulse Hays said the supply probably would be sufficient to furnish motorists of the city and county since the demand for stamps is dwindling.

Difficulty in obtaining stamps has caused confusion for postal officials and for motorists who were supposed to have their stamps by last Monday. Police Chief William McCrady has received no instructions on checking cars for stamps and added that until he received orders no such check in the city would be made.

Scarcity of auto stamps in other sections of the country has caused many travelers to stop at the local postoffice. One motorist, en route from New York to Tennessee, stopped at the local office to purchase an auto stamp and reported he had inquired at several postoffices on the way and had been unable to get one.

TWO OUSTER PETITIONS CERTIFIED TO COUNCIL

WASHINGTON C. H., Feb. 5—

Petitions seeking the removal of two members of the city council, A. W. Duff and James E. Ducey, have been certified to the council by the county board of elections.

The petitions charge the two councilmen with "circumventing the will of the voters" as expressed at the municipal election last November 4, by continuing S. A. Murry in council, through official acts of council, after he had been defeated for reelection.

The county board of elections has found the petitions sufficient, according to law. Duff and Ducey have five days in which either to resign or file objections with the board of elections.

'VICEROYS' RULE OCCUPIED LANDS

ance with the program of the Nazi Party Congress.

Bands Played Lustily

Below us, in the cobble-stoned streets winding crazily through rows of feudal walls and towers, brass bands played lustily and Nazi columns marching four abreast throatily sang: "Heute gehoeht uns Deutschland, morgen die ganze Welt!" This is a travesty on the actual text of the Nazi marching song and reads "Today Germany hears us, tomorrow the whole world." Officially the words are: "Today Germany is ours, tomorrow the whole world!" The Nazis, disregarding official frowns, on this occasion, let the cat out of the bag and substituted "gehoeht" for "hoert."

I glanced at Hitler to see if his ears had caught that little by-play on his claims and policies, but he paid it no attention. He was engrossed at the moment in pitying the shortcomings of Europe, in damning Stalin and Bolshevism, and in eulogizing the wisdom and vision of himself and his ideology.

He folded his arms across his chest, striking an attitude not unlike Napoleon standing on the battlefield.

"Ja, meine herren," he said with weighty self-importance, "I have told my men time and again and I shall say so in a speech tomorrow for all the world to hear that we wild Nazis are after all the best Europeans."

Thrown Off Shackles

"We have thrown off the shackles which held us; we have trampled on the dusty customs and standards of a decayed Victorian age; we have had the courage to awaken Germany and we have the courage to reawaken and if necessary to lead this sick Europe. The graybeards in many of its chancelleries cannot do it; the masses are helpless, and the army leaders in the various lands are interested only in themselves."

"New blood is needed, young blood, and men of courage. They must be Europeans, not from outside their own Continent. They can put Europe back on its feet. I can help them, once they are in the saddle. I can work with them, and together we can create a new Europe, a Europe rid of internecine strife and suicidal tariffs. Together we shall work as Europeans, for the common good of Europe, and that will be the time when the world will discover that we wild Nazis, as I said, are after all the best Europeans."

Thus spoke Hitler one year before he marched across the borders of Poland into World War II. It is easy to see that his blueprint for the New Order in Europe already had taken shape, even if it hadn't materialized.

He did not define the ways and means of getting the new blood, the men of courage he spoke of so glowingly. He did not tell us that day, for example, that in his mind these men already had been chosen, picked by him for the task of mastering and ruling the conquered parts of Europe with an iron hand.

Every time the German Army swept through the next victim on the Continent, the Nazi Fuehrer summoned to his office a deserving servant and with the gesture of a generous king endowed him with powers unlimited over the region he assigned him to.

One by one he dispatched these personal viceroys to the conquered capitals of Europe, each one responsible only to himself and charged with transforming the conquered territory into part and parcel of the Nazi New Order in Europe.

The ways and means of doing this were left to the gentle discretion of each viceroy, whose hands he reinforced by placing at their disposal all the violent efficiency of the S. S., a body of highly trained military guards specially trained and equipped to pacify and dominate any land taken over by force.

non-Nazi in the lot, Baron Konstantin von Neurath, failed to show sufficiently the ruthless iron fist as master of the Czechs, Hitler peremptorily removed him and sent to Prague the cold-blooded assistant to Himmler, Acting Gestapo Chief Reinhardt Heydrich. That, to the Czechs was the unkindest blow of all.

A Human Bloodhound

I know Heydrich fairly well, or at least well enough to keep away from him as much as possible. He is forty, a former naval lieutenant, and the best human bloodhound Himmler has found so far for his extensive work of hunting down the thousands of people filling the prisons, concentration camps and graves of the Reich.

He has a mind and mentality something like an adding machine, never forgetting or lapsing into the sentimental. From his viewpoint every man and woman under the sun must be regarded with suspicion and looked at as a case for investigation. Nobody ever gets a break, or considerations of mercy, Heydrich isn't that way.

This tall young man in the uniform of Group Leader of Hitler's Elite Guards and now boss of the so-called Protectorate (former Bohemia and Moravia), has a straight long nose with eyes set closely together. His face is always smoothly shaved and he talks in the clipped sentences of a man accustomed to dealing with people who can only listen and take orders. When Heydrich looks at anyone, his eyes narrow with suspicion for every word you may say and he watches you like a cat playing with a mouse.

Jewish Link Reported

A German high in the government service told me:

"I know that several people disappeared in the past few years because they had knowledge and proof of the fact that Heydrich on one side of the family comes from Dutch Jews."

(Next: More on Heydrich and an introduction to Joseph Terboven of Norway.)

NEED FOR SUGAR RATIONS SCORED IN CAPITAL CITY

by Civilian Supply Director Leon Henderson when he ordered sugar rationing for this nation.

Agriculture department officials say that domestic cane sugar production might, with effort, be stepped up to 525,000 tons. That would make an additional 75,000 tons. Hawaii, despite the war, might produce 800,000 tons, if enough labor is available, according to the department. That would add 300,000 more tons to the visible supply.

Bolivar Pagan, resident commissioner for Puerto Rico in Washington, declared that Puerto Rico can produce much more sugar than the island is raising at the present time. He said that "there is plenty of sugar." Pagan also stated there would be no need for rationing, that "there would be overflowing bowls of sugar on every American table" if the Puerto Rico sugar industry was encouraged to produce more.

Robert H. Patchin, vice-president of W. R. Grace and Co., merchants and brokers, declared that more sugar could be imported into the United States from Peru.

STEPHEN E. LAYTON, 61, IS DEAD IN INFIRMARY

Stephen Edward Layton, 61, a resident of the Pickaway county infirmary, died Thursday of organic heart disease. He had been in the infirmary since 1940.

He was a son of James and Elizabeth Lambert Layton. His wife, Susan Hankins, preceded him in death. Survivors are the following brothers and sisters, Mrs. Alice Albright and Mrs. Mary Weatherspoon, Columbus; Mrs.

Rebecca Reed of Republic, S. M. and Jake Layton of Grove City and Robert Layton of Jackson. The funeral will be at the grave in Concord cemetery, Franklin county, Friday at 3 p. m., the Rev. Orville Gibbs officiating. Burial will be by the Albaugh company.

COLUMBUS MAN NAMED IN DELINQUENCY CASE

Thomas Compton, 27, 1943 South Parsons avenue, Columbus, driver of an automobile from which a sixteen-year-old girl leaped Tuesday on Route 23 in Pickaway county, has been charged with contributing to delinquency.

The charge was filed in the Franklin county juvenile court by sheriff's officers. The affidavit, Mrs. Katherine Herbert, juvenile officer reported, charge Compton with causing the girl, Ruth Van Steenburgh, 595 Stewart avenue, to be truant from home without the knowledge of her mother. The girl is alleged to have leaped from Compton's car as it traveled south in Pickaway county near the Franklin line.

COPIES OF F. D. SPEECH TOSSED ON FRENCH AREA

British Air Force Hurls Pamphlet Bombardment On Occupied Cities

JANUARY 6 TALK CITED

Definite Campaign To Hit Nazis Through Sabotage Believed Under Way

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—The White House today outlined a definite campaign to foment revolt and sabotage in vital areas of occupied France at the expense of the German oppressors.

For the second time within a month, it was disclosed, flyers of the royal air force have "bombed" French population centers with many thousands of pamphlets revealing full details of the extent of United States participation in the war.

Prepared in Washington, these pamphlets quote liberally from President Roosevelt's state-of-union message to congress on January 6 in which he called for construction of 185,000 airplanes, 120,000 tanks and 18,000,000 tons of shipping by the end of 1943—all destined for allocation from the common arsenal of the united nations.

Interested officials said no attempt had been made to publicize Nazi Germany in this fashion. When American or British planes fly into Nazi territory, it was plainly indicated, they will leave their message with high explosives.

Significantly, the pamphlets scattered over German-occupied France contained this quotation from the President's message:

Our overwhelming superiority of armaments must be adequate to put weapons of war at the proper time into the hands of those men in the conquered nations who stand ready to seize the first opportunity to revolt against the German and Japanese oppressors, and against traitors in their ranks, known by the already famous name of quislings. As we get guns to patriots in those lands, they too will fire shots heard around the world.

This leaflet, emblazoned with red, white and blue v's, was dumped in particular by the R. A. F. over French coastal and industrial cities where true patriots might find opportunity to sabotage Nazi preparations for invasion of the British Isles and the short circuiting of German ship construction and repair work.

Then, at the last session of the conference, after all the set speeches were concluded, suddenly the galleries shouted: "We want Mexico!" And they kept it up until Foreign Minister Padilla went to the rostrum. There, he delivered the most eloquent speech of the entire conference, pointing his finger at the Argentine and Chilean delegates and calling upon them to break with the Axis.

It was beautiful oratory—probably prepared well in advance—and Mexico was cheered to the echo. The entire conference rose and applauded. But Argentine Foreign Minister Ruiz Ginzazu slumped in his seat, his hands clenched, not clapping.

WASHINGTON—Ernest Kanzler, brother-in-law of Edsel Ford and chief of the automotive division of the War Production Board, has obtained some interesting low-down on who's who in the war production setup.

The Army-Navy Munitions Board, composed of military brass-hats, was a key agency in the old defense organization. Jealous of their bureaucratic prerogatives, the brasshats now are endeavoring to continue as big shots. Thus Eberstadt and Kanzler have crossed swords several times.

This was Nelson's significant advice to Kanzler—

"Don't worry about Eberstadt. We can handle him. If you make him mad it won't matter. What you want to watch is not to get Walter Reuther mad. If you make him mad, then we will be in hot water and you'll be in trouble with me."

NOTE: Two-fisted young vice president of the United Auto Workers, Reuther is highly regarded as a crack industrial expert by Nelson and Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson. After former OPM Director General Knudsen had repeatedly disregarded proposals by Reuther for increasing war production in the auto industry, Patterson went over Knudsen's head and appointed Reuther as his personal representative to make a survey of several auto plants preparatory to converting them to armament production.

COPIES OF F. D. SPEECH TOSSED ON FRENCH AREA

British Air Force Hurls Pamphlet Bombardment On Occupied Cities

JANUARY 6 TALK CITED

Definite Campaign To Hit Nazis Through Sabotage Believed Under Way

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—The White House today outlined a definite campaign to foment revolt and sabotage in vital areas of occupied France at the expense of the German oppressors.

For the second time within a month, it was disclosed, flyers of the royal air force have "bombed" French population centers with many thousands of pamphlets revealing full details of the extent of United States participation in the war.

Prepared in Washington, these pamphlets quote liberally from President Roosevelt's state-of-union message to congress on January 6 in which he called for construction of 185,000 airplanes, 120,000 tanks and 18,000,000 tons of shipping by the end of 1943—all destined for allocation from the common arsenal of the united nations.

Interested officials said no attempt had been made to publicize Nazi Germany in this fashion. When American or British planes fly into Nazi territory, it was plainly indicated, they will leave their message with high explosives.

Significantly, the pamphlets scattered over German-occupied France contained this quotation from the President's message:

Our overwhelming superiority of armaments must be adequate to put weapons of war at the proper time into the hands of those men in the conquered nations who stand ready to seize the first opportunity to revolt against the German and Japanese oppressors, and against traitors in their ranks, known by the already famous name of quislings. As we get guns to patriots in those lands, they too will fire shots heard around the world."

This leaflet, emblazoned with red, white and blue Vs, was dumped in particular by the R. A. F. over French coastal and industrial cities where true patriots might find opportunity to sabotage Nazi preparations for invasion of the British Isles and the short circuiting of German ship construction and repair work.

Many Cities 'Bombed'

Cooperating with the Washington government, the R. A. F. dropped 276,000 of these hope-inspiring booklets over Rennes, 72,000 over Brest, 18,000 over Guingamp-Landevac, 13,500 over St. Nazaire, 12,000 over the St. Malo area, and 6,000 over Cherbourg.

Translated into French was President Roosevelt's confident assurance that "we shall carry the attack against the enemy—we shall hit him and hit him again wherever we can reach him."

WOES OF WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, D. C., grows somewhat like a snake, pausing from time to time to shed its skin so it can resume its growth. The capital has been in this painful stage lately, with war requirements calling for 150,000 more helpers and no place to put them. So the President proposes ejection of "parasites" to make room for them. There is naturally a big howl. But that doesn't bother old-timers, because whatever is done in Washington results in a big howl. The new-comers will be jammed in somehow.

Meanwhile another emotional upset is caused by the demand that government stenographers go to bed in time to get up and do a reasonable day's work. Observers say it takes the girls until noon to get their eyes open and their make-up on, then it's time for lunch, and by the time they get back and lick a few stamps it's about time to go home.

Generally speaking, Americans are for peace, but somebody has to do that work. And with men being drafted, it looks as if the girls will have to go to bed and get up in the morning and get on the job, make-up or no make-up. Rouge and lipstick, anyway, won't win this war.

UNFAIR TO OLD-TIMER

WHAT can be done with a fellow like Constable John Terry of Eagle county, Colorado? At the age of 67 he doesn't seem to know that he should be sitting by the fire while somebody warms his slippers. He is as mad as all get-out because he was rejected for war service on account of age, when his grandson, 17 years old, was accepted for the Marine Corps. And his grandson, Joe Brett, doesn't blame him. "He can out-shoot, out-ride and out-dance me any day," says Joe. And granddad "don't see what age has to do with shootin'."

Well, John can keep the home guns loaded. But there ought to be some way to make more adequate use of such talents.

ACTION

WAR production has to be measured now in terms of quantity, not of cost. "Start turning out the stuff," Donald Nelson tells manufacturers, "and we can argue about the terms at our leisure. Turn it out by inefficient methods if necessary, and figure out better ones as you go along—but get the stuff moving."

In other words, "Keep 'em rolling, keep 'em flying." It's the only way to hit Hitler where he lives.

"I believe in democracy it releases the energies of every human being" — Woodrow Wilson.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE ... Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up early and soon away noting a slight improvement in temperature. At the post did hear someone say he "would be darned if he waited up until 2 o'clock next Monday morning to turn his clock forward an hour." Know very well that I will not either. Hope I remember to set it up before retiring.

Roger Vega, the Cuban, dropped in at the office and asked: "What is it, that animal, supposed to tell about Winter?" Woodchuck, he was informed. "I don't believe that woodchuck," Roger declared. "He said we would have six weeks more of cold and here it is warmer already. In my country we don't have woodchucks and maybe it's just as well."

Herbert Louis, the New Holland merchant, has been about this United States a lot and, since he is an Elk, he has visited Elks' homes in many cities. This week he visited the Circleville Elks home for the first time and was quite impressed as he should have been.

Dropped in for a chat with Kitty Fissel and noted that Dee Early's phone office finally has been established in the new building. Stopped at city hall and saw the entire police force assembled and awaiting traffic duty to expedite passage of an army convoy through the ville. Noted Bugs' bandaged hand and recalled how he broke a bone clipping a man he believed not sufficiently respectful of American war prowess.

Overheard two school kids discussing a recent test and both of them lamenting the fact that they could not remember the first thirteen states admitted to the Union and the order of their entrance. At a Rotary meeting some time back I heard a speaker relate a silly little story and ever since I have remembered the thirteen states. Here is the story for those who may profit by it. A girl named Delaware decided to take a trip so she went to the Pennsylvania station, bought a ticket, returned home to pack her New Jersey and left to visit her friend Georgia in Connecticut. The next day was Sunday so they went to Mass where they heard about Maryland and then went south to visit Carolina who served them a Ham dinner cooked by a Negress named Virginia from New York. After dinner she went North with Carolina and Rode out to see the Island. Silly isn't it? But I'll bet a dime that if you read the tale carefully once or twice you always will be able to remember the first thirteen states in the Union.

Dropped in at the Rifle Club in the evening and saw Cecil Noecker instructing his two sons in marksmanship. Cecil probably is the best shot in the county, but he will not be for long if his sons continue progress as rapidly as they have so far. Up there the riflemen have quit shooting for bullseyes and now are shooting "Japs." "Has improved my shooting no end," Tom Brannon declared.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

U. S. WILL HELP NATIONS

RIO DE JANEIRO — It was two o'clock in the morning. The Pan-American Conference was winding up its last tough day. The Foreign Ministers of the Western Hemisphere had knocked the heads of Peru and Ecuador together until at long last they promised to settle their century-old boundary dispute, thus ending aggression in the Americas.

Moonlight played on the palm trees outside. White swans glided in the ancient reflecting pool of the Foreign Office. But Pan-American diplomats, dog-tired, cared naught about moon, swans or palm trees, as they waited for the translators to whip the Peruvian-Ecuadorian treaty into Spanish, English and Portuguese.

Only men still exuding vivaciousness was Brazil's indefatigable Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha. While waiting, he expounded to his colleagues on the evils of Hitler.

"Hitler," said Aranha, "has started two things which he will live to regret. One is his persecution of the Jews. That will come back to haunt Germany for years.

"The other is forcing the United States to become a great military nation. Before Hitler, the United States was one of the least militaristic countries in the world. It did not want to arm. But now that it is armed, its people will not permit it to be caught napping again. So it will suffer all the evils of militarism."

"But, Dr. Aranha," interrupted Sumner Welles with a twinkle in his eye, "Brazil will suffer from the same evils; for all that we have in the way of military supplies Brazil will have also. We intend to send you tanks, airplanes, artillery until we have made you the strongest nation in South America."

"That remark," interrupted Argentina's Foreign Minister Ruiz Ginazu, who had refused to break relations with the Axis, "has all the earmarks of a dig at the Argentine Foreign Minister."

Replied Wells: "Yes, it certainly was, Mr. Foreign Minister."

ARGENTINA VS. BRAZIL

Thus, vividly, was illustrated the most important thing that developed behind the scenes at Rio de Janeiro — the determination of the United States to help those who help her.

And because Brazil battled every minute for American policy at Rio, another important result of the conference was that in the century-old see-saw between Brazil and Argentina, Brazil definitely took the lead in Pan-American power politics.

On the surface, Argentina, once the recognized leader of Latin-America, forced the Rio conference to "recommend" instead of "decreting" a break in Axis relations. But behind the scenes, Argentina suffered a defeat from which it will not soon recover.

VIVA MEXICO!

Cleverest strategy to shove Argentina into the background was evolved by Brazil's Aranha when he actually made Foreign Minister Padilla of Mexico the hero of the conference.

Aranha knew the traditional rivalry between Mexico and Argentina for the Spanish-speaking leadership of the West- (Continued on Page Five)

DIET AND HEALTH

Defense Workers Can Better Nation's Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I HAVE a suggestion, in fact something of a program for the medical departments of the Civilian Defense Committees that are being set up in all of our cities. Just how much emergency work these committees will be called on to do remains to be seen. If we have an influenza epidemic such as we had during the last years of World War I, of course they will have plenty to do.

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

With movements of large masses of population, we must expect at least to be prepared for epidemics of infectious diseases, and if they come they are likely to strain the resources of our civilian hospitals and civil medical profession. The medical departments of the Civilian Defense Committees will certainly have to assume the role of direction of all activities in such circumstances. In the, I hope remote, event of air raids they will assume even more rigid authority.

Such emergencies aside, what are the medical departments of civilian defense to do? I feel they have a great opportunity in that they can take advantage of the general spirit of community alertness and willingness to cooperate that such an emergency as this engenders, to carry out health measures on the population that cannot readily be enforced in peace time. These measures are not experiments. They are tried and true. They are not theoretical and they are guaranteed to improve the health of America and Canada for years to come.

Lack of Enforcement

Why, you will ask, have they not already been enforced? They have to a certain extent, but universal enforcement falls by the wayside in ordinary times because of indifference, carelessness and lack of a common spirit of cooperation.

One such thing is the enforcement of universal smallpox vaccination. Nobody knows how large an unvaccinated population we have. The Health Boards try to enforce it with indifferent success. Every once in a while when smallpox breaks out in a certain community, we are shocked to find that a large proportion of the population is unprotected.

Here is something that is tried and true. There is no real opposition to it except among a microscopic lunatic fringe. The Army certainly believes in it. If you undertake to visit a foreign country—our good South American neighbors for instance—you find that the steamer companies and the health officers of the foreign countries believe in it.

NEIL SHOOK Molla's hand cordially. "So you almost forgot about me, eh? I'm not used to being forgotten that easily." He stepped back and gave her a critical look.

"I don't know whether it's the sun-tan or whether plane crashes agree with you, but you're looking mighty pretty."

His statement came like a little jolt. "Why—thank you. Are you sure you intended to say that or was it a slip?"

Neil scratched his head. "You've got me there, but it's said and the damage is done."

"Damage? What damage?"

His face sobered slightly, just enough for her to notice the change. "Anything exciting at the office?" she asked, changing the subject.

"Freddy Hagan has the measles and we got two more government contracts."

"Big ones?"

"Very big," he said emphatically. "Biggest we've ever had."

"That's wonderful."

"I suppose so, but it has its bad points. That means more statistical work, more stuffy conferences before I leave."

"Do you find New York so distasteful, or do you have other reasons for wanting to leave?"

He looked down at her with studied casualness. "That's a possibility."

When Molla returned to the office two days later, the entire staff swarmed all over her. Even prim, uncommunicative Miss Crump broke down and beamed her delight. "We were so worried for you," she said, and then with hardly a pause she assigned some special work to Molla.

Enid Blair took her aside. "Here's something that should interest you more than any greetings we can offer." She handed Molla an envelope.

One look at the handwriting and Molla gave an excited little cry. "It's from mother!"

She tore wildly at the gummed flap. "And it's a London postmark." All but the address on the outside of the letter was in Norwegian. Molla read swiftly, eagerly drinking in every word.

"Darling Molla:

"I may never know if this letter reaches you, but my hopes and prayers go with it. It is being smuggled out of Norway by a young man we knew in Oslo. He is leaving for the coast, where he will attempt to make England in a small boat with some friends. I pray to God that they get through.

"He and others have almost convinced me that I should attempt the same thing—an escape to England. I know full well the dangers of such an attempt and what would happen if it failed. Yet the thought of freedom and the possibility of joining you some day in America spurs me on."

The food problem becomes more acute daily. It is two weeks since we have had any butter at all. Our uninvited 'guests' give us little opportunity with the ration cards they have provided. Thankfully, I have all the clothing I need."

"It is difficult to think of leaving Norway, but my mind is made up. I hope I can be brave. Pray for me, Molla, and perhaps the next letter I send I will post myself from London."

"Do not try to write to me; there is no use. But you will hear again from me as soon as possible . . ."

Neil Lindquist was just entering his office as Molla finished the letter. Impulsively she rushed in behind him.

"Neil, look at this." She shoved the letter into his hands.

He looked at it and shook his head. "Sorry, no spik Norway," he laughed.

"Oh, how silly of me. I forgot." Excitedly she told him what the letter contained.

"Your mother," he told her, "is a woman of spirit. Here in America we call it just plain nerve. That's what it takes to do what she's going to do."

"She'll get through, too," Molla told him almost fiercely.

Molla refolded the letter. "I had better get back to my desk before Miss Crump starts looking for me."

Neil sat down when she had gone and filled his pipe carefully. He lit it and puffed slowly, staring dreamily through the smoke. There was something quite disturbing, he thought, about the way Molla always came to him when something happened. Disturbing because it prompted thoughts in his mind which he knew he shouldn't have.

Neil grabbed a pencil savagely and scribbled into a batch of figures. Work, lots of good, hard work was always the antidote for thoughts like that.

The door opened and a stenographer shoved her head inside. "Mr. Whitworth wants you in his office."

"Neil," Burton Whitworth said, "I want you to meet Walter Jordan, the head of our experimental laboratories."

Neil shook hands with the slight, bespectacled scientist. "Yes, of course, I've heard of you, Dr. Jordan, but I've never had the pleasure of meeting you."

"Dr. Jordan," Whitworth continued, "believes he has perfected a concrete that is 50 per cent stronger and more lasting than any concrete yet made. Not only that, but you use less of it."

Neil whistled softly. "That sounds like something."

"The war department thinks so, too," Whitworth added. "In fact, they think so much of it that they want us to build a small dam, exact size of one they've already made a blast test upon. They're going to see how much explosive it takes to destroy the thing."

Neil turned to Dr. Jordan. "You say you have this perfected, Doctor?"

Doctor Jordan smiled. "I have. Needless to say, we believe it will be a tremendous boost to national defense. If it is accepted by the war department we'll completely forget about domestic needs and concentrate solely upon more important things," he said significantly.

"You, naturally, will be in charge of building that dam," Whitworth told Neil.

"I want you to drop everything else immediately and start on this project. You will have complete freedom. After you go over the plans with Dr. Jordan let me know how long it will take for completion. Speed, however, should not take preference over workmanship, but I don't have to tell you that."

"And the formula for this concrete—who knows it?"

"Just Mr. Whitworth and myself," Dr. Jordan said. "But if you wish—"

"No," Neil interrupted. "The fewer people who know, the better."

When Dr. Jordan left, Burton Whitworth looked at Neil keenly. "You look sort of peaked lately. You've been working too hard. Why don't you relax. There are other people around here who can help carry the load."

"Get a little exercise, even a canter in the country, if nothing else. That'll do fine for a starter."

"No thanks. I don't like to ride alone and Tay's in no shape yet."

"Well, we'll find someone, by gad, if we have to send the butler along with you. No—I've got it. Molla rides very well, and where could you find a more pleasant companion?"

"No," Neil protested quickly. "I don't think—"

"But I do. That's an order for both of you, by golly, and I don't want any arguments. Now you get right out of here and make yourself a date."

WOES OF WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, D. C., grows somewhat like a snake, pausing from time to time to shed its skin so it can resume its growth. The capital has been in this painful stage lately, with war requirements calling for 150,000 more helpers and no place to put them. So the President proposes ejection of "parasites" to make room for them. There is naturally a big howl. But that doesn't bother old-timers, because whatever is done in Washington results in a big howl. The new-comers will be jammed in somehow.

Meanwhile another emotional upset is caused by the demand that government stenographers go to bed in time to get up and do a reasonable day's work. Observers say it takes the girls until noon to get their eyes open and their make-up on, then it's time for lunch, and by the time they get back and lick a few stamps it's about time to go home.

Generally speaking, Americans are for peace, but somebody has to do that work. And with men being drafted, it looks as if the girls will have to go to bed and get up in the morning and get on the job, make-up or no make-up. Rouge and lipstick, anyway, won't win this war.

UNFAIR TO OLD-TIMER

WHAT can be done with a fellow like Constable John Terry of Eagle county, Colorado? At the age of 67 he doesn't seem to know that he should be sitting by the fire while somebody warms his slippers. He is as mad as all get-out because he was rejected for war service on account of age, when his grandson, 17 years old, was accepted for the Marine Corps. And his grandson, Joe Brett, doesn't blame him. "He can out-shoot, out-ride and out-dance me any day," says Joe. And granddad "don't see what age has to do with shootin'."

Well, John can keep the home guns loaded. But there ought to be some way to make more adequate use of such talents.

ACTION

WAR production has to be measured now in terms of quantity, not of cost. "Start turning out the stuff," Donald Nelson tells manufacturers, "and we can argue about the terms at our leisure. Turn it out by inefficient methods if necessary, and figure out better ones as you go along—but get the stuff moving."

In other words, "Keep 'em rolling, keep 'em flying." It's the only way to hit Hitler where he lives.

"I believe in democracy it releases the energies of every human being" — Woodrow Wilson.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up early and soon away noting a slight improvement in temperature. At the post did hear someone say he "would be darned if he waited up until 2 o'clock next Monday morning to turn his clock forward an hour." Know very well that I will not either. Hope I remember to set it up before retiring.

Roger Vega, the Cuban, dropped in at the office and asked: "What is it, that animal, supposed to tell about Winter?" Woodchuck, he was informed. "I don't believe that woodchuck," Roger declared. "He said we would have six weeks more of cold and here it is warmer already. In my country we don't have woodchucks and maybe it's just as well."

Herbert Louis, the New Holland merchant, has been about this United States a lot and, since he is an Elk, he has visited Elk's homes in many cities. This week he visited the Circleville Elks home for the first time and was quite impressed as he should have been.

Dropped in for a chat with Kitty Fissel and noted that Dec Early's phone office finally has been established in the new building. Stopped at city hall and saw the entire police force assembled and awaiting traffic duty to expedite passage of an army convoy through the ville. Noted Bugs' bandaged hand and recalled how he broke a bone clipping a man he believed not sufficiently respectful of American war prowess.

Overheard two school kids discussing a recent test and both of them lamenting the fact that they could not remember the first thirteen states admitted to the Union and the order of their entrance. At a Rotary meeting some time back I heard a speaker relate a silly little story and ever since I have remembered the thirteen states. Here is the story for those who may profit by it. A girl named Delawanda decided to take a trip so she went to the Pennsylvania station, bought a ticket, returned home to pack her New Jersey and left to visit her friend Georgia in Connecticut.

The next day was Sunday so they went to Mass where they heard about Maryland and then went south to visit Carolina who served them a Ham dinner cooked by a Negro named Virginia from New York. After dinner she went North with Carolina and Rode out to see the Island. Silly isn't it? But I'll bet a dime that if you read the tale carefully once or twice you always will be able to remember the first thirteen states in the Union.

Dropped in at the Rifle Club in the evening and saw Cecil Noecker instructing his two sons in marksmanship. Cecil probably is the best shot in the county, but he will not be for long if his sons continue progress as rapidly as they have so far. Up there the riflemen have quit shooting for bullseyes and now are shooting "Japs." "Has improved my shooting no end," Tom Brannon declared.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

U. S. WILL HELP NATIONS

RIO DE JANEIRO — It was two o'clock in the morning. The Pan-American Conference was winding up its last tough day. The Foreign Ministers of the Western Hemisphere had knocked the heads of Peru and Ecuador together until at long last they promised to settle their century-old boundary dispute, thus ending aggression in the Americas.

Moonlight played on the palm trees outside. White swans glided in the ancient reflecting pool of the Foreign Office. But Pan-American diplomats, dog-tired, cared naught about moon, swans or palm trees, as they waited for the translators to whip the Peruvian-Ecuadorian treaty into Spanish, English and Portuguese.

Only men still exuding vivaciousness was Brazil's indefatigable Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha. While waiting, he expounded to his colleagues on the evils of Hitler.

"Hitler," said Aranha, "has started two things which he will live to regret. One is his persecution of the Jews. That will come back to haunt Germany for years.

"The other is forcing the United States to become a great military nation. Before Hitler, the United States was one of the least militaristic countries in the world. It did not want to arm. But now that it is armed, its people will not permit it to be caught napping again. So it will suffer all the evils of militarism."

"But, Dr. Aranha," interrupted Sumner Welles with a twinkle in his eye, "Brazil will suffer from the same evils; for all that we have in the way of military supplies Brazil will have also. We intend to send you tanks, airplanes, artillery until we have made you the strongest nation in South America."

"That remark," interrupted Argentina's Foreign Minister Ruiz Ginazu, who had refused to break relations with the Axis, "has all the earmarks of a dig at the Argentine Foreign Minister."

Replied Wells: "Yes, it certainly was, Mr. Foreign Minister."

ARGENTINA VS. BRAZIL

Thus, vividly, was illustrated the most important thing that developed behind the scenes at Rio de Janeiro — the determination of the United States to help those who help her.

And because Brazil battled every minute for American policy at Rio, another important result of the conference was that in the century-old see-saw between Brazil and Argentina, Brazil definitely took the lead in Pan-American power politics.

On the surface, Argentina, once the recognized leader of Latin-America, forced the Rio conference to "recommend" instead of "decreeing" a break in Axis relations. But behind the scenes, Argentina suffered a defeat from which it will not soon recover.

VIVA MEXICO!

Cleverest strategy to shove Argentina into the background was evolved by Brazil's Aranha when he actually made Foreign Minister Padilla of Mexico the hero of the conference.

Aranha knew the traditional rivalry between Mexico and Argentina for the Spanish-speaking leadership of the West-

Again here is a great opportunity for tuberculosis case findings—to weed out all the suspected cases of tuberculosis in the community and segregate the carriers.

Fifty years ago tuberculosis and typhoid were the biggest killers. A hundred and fifty years ago smallpox, typhoid and tuberculosis were the biggest killers. In that short a time in man's history we have learned how to control them. Let us apply the controls universally. Wouldn't it be a wonderful thing if we could wipe out those enemies for the next few generations?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. M.: "I am interested in obtaining facts concerning lipoma, fatty growths or tumors under the skin. What really causes this condition? Can it be controlled by certain vitamins? Is there anything the patient can do to correct the condition or to prevent the spreading of these growths?"

Answer: Lipoma is an overgrowth of fatty tissue which is of the nature of a benign tumor. They never become malignant or cancerous. As in the case of all other tumors, we do not know the cause. They certainly cannot be controlled by vitamins. They do no harm except when they are very large or where they are in a place that the clothing rubs on the overlying skin and causes soreness and irritation. Under these circumstances a lipoma should be removed surgically. This is considered a minor operation and can be done under local anesthesia.

DiMaggio Not Satisfied With 1942 Salary Offer

By JACK MAHON

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 — The most valuable player in the American league last season, Joseph Paul DiMaggio, has received his contract for 1942 from the N. Y. Yankees, does not exactly approve of it and is likely to prove the No. 1 $50,000 hold-out of the hot stove league season.

None other than Joseph Paul, in person, disclosed this before leaving for Lido Beach, St. Petersburg, Fla., today. Joe received his contract in the mail yesterday and would not disclose how much he had been offered, or what he would demand before accepting it.

"I naturally cannot say how much I was offered," said Joe, "but you can say I'll have to go through much the same procedure that I did in the past. They always send me terms, and I either visit Ed Barrow or write him to open negotiations on the matter."

Joe has been reported, along the baseball front, as asking from $60,000 to $70,000. We don't string along with these rumors because of the war emergency, and a couple of other reasons, and think DiMaggio will ask for $50,000 and accept between a $42,500 and $45,000 compromise.

There is little doubt, that in peace time, DiMaggio could demand and get the highest salary ever paid a ball player since Babe Ruth's $80,000 stipend in the golden 30's. Hank Greenberg was to have received 50 g's last year when DiMaggio not only won the player of the year award, for the second time, but established a hitting streak of 56 straight games that might never be equalled.

Joe has always been the subject of much hot stove league holdout

DiMaggio Not Satisfied With 1942 Salary Offer

By JACK MAHON
NEW YORK, Feb. 5 —

The most valuable player in the American league last season, Joseph Paul DiMaggio, has received his contract for 1942 from the N. Y. Yankees, does not exactly approve of it and is likely to prove the No. 1 $50,000 hold-out of the hot stove league season.

None other than Joseph Paul, in person, disclosed this before leaving for Lido Beach, St. Petersburg, Fla., today. Joe received his contract in the mail yesterday and would not disclose how much he had been offered, or what he would demand before accepting it.

"I naturally cannot say how much I was offered," said Joe, "but you can say I'll have to go through much the same procedure that I did in the past. They always send me terms, and I either visit Ed Barrow or write him to open negotiations on the matter."

Joe has been reported, along the baseball front, as asking from $60,000 to $70,000. We don't string along with these rumors because of the war emergency, and a couple of other reasons, and think DiMag will ask for $50,000 and accept between a $42,500 and $45,000 compromise.

There is little doubt, that in peace time, DiMaggio could demand and get the highest salary ever paid a ball player since Babe Ruth's $80,000 stipend in the golden 30's. Hank Greenberg was to have received 50 g's last year when DiMag not only won the player of the year award, for the second time, but established a hitting streak of 56 straight games that might never be equaled.

Joe has always been the subject of much hot stove league holdout.

comment, probably because Barrow leaves all the offensive up to his great young outfielder. "Naturally I am not satisfied with the terms offered to me and don't think I'll sign until Mr. Barrow gets to St. Petersburg," continued DiMag. DENISON WHIPS CAPITAL IN CONFERENCE SURPRISE

By International News Service
Undeclared basketball leaders in the Ohio Conference were narrowed down to four today because under-dog Denison followed up its half-time pace to trounce hitherto unbeaten Capital last night, 64 to 48.

Denison, with only two victories against four losses prior to yesterday's contest, caught Capital's Lutherans unawares by doubling the score, 12 to 6, in the early minutes of the game, and piling up a half-time advantage of 37 to 20.

Capital's upset left Mt. Union, Baldwin-Wallace, Wooster and Toledo as the only teams in conference standing with undefeated records.

PIGGY LAMBERT UNHURT IN INDIANA ACCIDENT

LA FAYETTE, Ind., Feb. 5—Ward (Piggy) Lambert was back drilling his Purdue basketball five today following a narrow escape when his automobile plunged down a 40-foot embankment and overturned on the outskirts of Indianapolis.

Lambert, whose wife suffered a slight knee injury, insisted he was not injured in the accident and returned to Lafayette to direct his team's preparations for Saturday's invasion by Iowa.

Jeff Heath, Cleveland outfielder, is the only major leaguer to lambast a home run into the upper stands of the Indians' ball orchard.

Five games are on the county schedule Friday with Scioto at Ashville and Pickaway at Walnut being the features. Others are Monroe on New Holland, Darby at Washington (played in Circleville high) and Perry at Jackson.

The Red and Black of Circleville high will have a tough job in trying to defeat the Blue Lions on the Washington court, especially since the Fayette boys knocked off Frankfort 77-21 the other night. Jim Alkire and Dave Ellies, the latter a tall center, carry the brunt of the Washington attack.

The Circleville team, victorious in its last two starts over Wilmington and Oak Hill, will be in good physical condition. Washington won a 35-33 game here. The Tigers need a victory to put their season's record at seven victories and seven defeats.

BENNY MCCOY SIGNS UP FOR SERVICE IN NAVY

CHICAGO, Feb. 5—Benny McCoy, 25-year-old infielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, joined the ranks today of the high-priced athletes in the American armed forces.

He was sworn in as a coxswain in the naval reserve at the Great Lakes Naval training station. McCoy, whose home is in Grand Rapids, Mich., would have been subject to early call for the Army had he not signed up with the naval reserve.

He was declared a free agent by Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis following the 1939 season after he had played briefly with the Detroit Tigers. He then insisted on a bonus of about $40,000 to join the Athletics, but was a disappointment to Connie Mack in 1940, although putting in a creditable season last year.

Solicitor Appears Before Tax Board To Discuss City's Problem

Failing to reach an agreement on what portion of their $13,000 worth of bonds they should refund this year, city council Wednesday night postponed action on its bond refunding resolution and voted to meet again next Wednesday night to give the issue special attention.

The resolution as read to council provided for refunding $10,000 worth of the bonds, the remaining amount to be paid off this year. To secure any money for the general fund the city must prove to the state board of tax appeals that the funds are essential for operation and maintenance of the city, Solicitor J. W. Adkins told council. Adkins recommended that council work out a definite schedule of essentials which it might present to the tax appeals board before passing the $10,000 resolution.

Councilman Frank Lynch asked for further time to consider the measure and informed his colleagues that he was generally opposed to such a program, labeling it as one of "robbing Peter to pay Paul."

Councilmen George Crites and Julius Helwegen spoke in favor of the $10,000 resolution, maintaining that renewing street lights, additional police protection and other items were vital to the city's protection and that the amount was not excessive. Councilman Helwegen moved that the resolution be passed, but later withdrew his motion when council agreed to call a committee meeting next Wednesday night to consider the matter. Councilman Boyd Horn suggested that the amount be $4,000.

Adkins and County Representative W. D. Radcliff were in Columbus Thursday conferring with heads of the board of tax appeals to get a better understanding on what legislation would be necessary to obtain the funds through the refund method. Such cases usually are handled through formal hearings before the board.

Parking In North End Of City Hit

Parking on Court street north of Pleasant is against city ordinance and violators may be fined from $2 to $25 as a result of action of council.

The ordinance providing for no parking on North Court north of Pleasant was passed under suspension of the rules after being given its second reading. Its provisions carry the recommendations of the state highway department, which has requested that all bottlenecks on main highways be eliminated.

W. E. Wallace, newly elected councilman-at-large, who fills the vacancy left by Clarence Helvering, service director, was sworn in as a member of Council. The oath was administered by President Goeller.

Mayor Ben H. Gordon's first monthly report was read at the opening of the Council session. Collections totaled $221. Of the total $43 was fees, $3 licenses and $175 bonds. Safety Director Ernest Weiler submitted no report on collections at Berger hospital.

A resolution authorizing the safety director to advertise for bids of 800 feet of 2 1/2 inch fire hose was passed. Council made provision for the additional hose in the fire department's budget.

With the new "war" time becoming effective next Monday council voted to meet at 8 p. m. instead of 7:30.

Norway's New Boss

Maj. Vidkun Quisling, above, whose last name became synonymous in democratic countries with the noun, "traitor," has been installed as puppet premier of Norway by the Nazis. Reich's Commissioner Josef Terboven, who gets his orders straight from Berchtesgaden, Germany, is regarded as real ruler of Norway.

New instructions on tire rationing procedure have been received by the county tire rationing council and were being mailed Thursday to the local tire rationing boards.

The instructions came from the Ohio State Council of Defense.

New instructions are:

1. Clergymen are not eligible for tires under the present regulations;
2. Local boards must refuse certificates for all new road grading vehicles not supplied with tires by the manufacturer. Tires for new road grading vehicles must be obtained by the manufacturer;
3. Under the present regulations passenger cars used by telephone companies for service are not eligible;
4. The following procedure should be followed regarding applicants having eligible vehicles but no tire to turn in due to no fault of the applicant: The applicant may submit an affidavit stating why he cannot surrender the used tire, and the local board, if convinced, may write across the certificate "No used tire need be turned in." Two members issuing the certificate must initial the statement and the dealer may delete the statement in the certificate that the purchaser delivered the tire. The local board should retain a copy of the affidavit.

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

NO. 25 DEDUCTIONS FOR BUSINESS EXPENSES

Deductions for business expenses form a large item in the return of many taxpayers and must have certain qualities to be allowed. Such deduction must be for an expenditure in connection with the maintenance and operation of the taxpayer's business or business properties; it must be an ordinary expense, and it must be a necessary expense. In insisting upon the latter qualifications, the Bureau of Internal Revenue is upheld by the Board of Tax Appeals and the courts. Ordinary and necessary expenses are only those which are usual and essential in the case of similar taxpayers, "and do not include extraordinary and nonessential expenses."

Typical business expenses of a mercantile establishment are amounts paid for advertising, hire of clerks and other employees, rent, light, heat, water, stationery, stamps, telephone, property insurance, and delivery expenses.

The expenses of a manufacturing business include labor, supplies, repairs, light and heat, power, selling cost, administration, and other similar charges.

A taxpayer conducting more than one business may claim the business deductions of each.

COUNCIL APPROVES TAX CASH FOR CITY LIBRARY

Under suspension of rules, council Wednesday night passed an appropriation ordinance for $10,000 for the Circleville library.

The money represents the 80 percent of the intangible tax which by law must be spent for library purposes. The appropriation includes salaries, $3,600; books, $2,300; supplies $287.70; furniture and equipment, $175.10; incidentals $1,637.20 and Memorial hall maintenance, $2,000.

The library board of trustees has assumed the obligation of maintaining Memorial hall and will pay the Memorial Association $2,000 rent each year for the upkeep of the building. The county budget commission has granted the library board a $2,000 increase to compensate the additional expenditure. Under the new program the county book truck service is being discontinued to reduce expenses at the library.
